Convocations To Feature PMB's, Pianist Anders

Parish Mission Builders and Miss Mary Anders, Piano Department, will be featured on next week's convocations. The PMB's will appear Tuesday, whereas Miss Anders will present a concert during Thursday's convo.

Appearing Tuesday will be seniors Olinda Deines, Ann Finnern, Phil Moeller and Darrell Wiedman; and juniors Paul Fuchs, Barb Clausen, Herb Hafermann, Ken Lauterbach, Helen Mueller and Elaine Schneider. Also serving on the team were former students Gerri Bauer, Bev Heun, Darrell Beekmann and Vince Fricke.

Rieke Directs

Sponsored jointly by the Youth and Evangelism Departments of the American Lutheran Church, the program is directed by Dr. Marcus Rieke ALC Youth Director.

Builders are chosen from all the ALC colleges, and they work in teams of four throughout the United States. Wartburg College had the largest representation of all the schools last summer.

From Illinois

Miss Anders, whose home is Dalton, Ill., received her bachelor of music degree from De Pauw University, Greencastle, Ind. After doing graduate work at Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N.Y., she taught at Berea College, Berea, Ky. Last year she received her master of music degree from Northwestern University.

Included on her program will be a sonata by Wolfgang Mozart and three numbers by Fredric Chopin — prelude, mazurka and barcarolle.

Four To Attend College Meeting

Four representatives from Wartburg will attend the annual convention of the Association of Lutheran College Faculties on Oct. 4 and 5. The convention will be held at Valparaiso University, Valparaiso, Ind.

Dean of Students Earnest Oppermann, Dean of Women Florence Hertlein, Miss Erna Moehl, English Department, and Raymond Norheim, History Department, plan to attend the conference. The theme will be "The Christian Liberal Arts College in a Scientific Culture."

The majority of all Lutheran colleges in the United States belong to the Association.

Hey There

Don't waste that time by studying. If you're a Trumpet reporter, or if you're interested in working on the staff, plan to attend the special staff meeting Monday evening at 7:15 in the Publications House.

Name It!

Hear Ye! Hear Ye!

Name that dorm and win a $26 Sheaffer pen and pencil set, donated by Meyer's Drug store.

The Wartburg Trumpet in cooperation with the Homecoming special contest committee is sponsoring a "Name the new men's dorm" contest. Competition is open to present Wartburg students only.

Final naming of any building on campus must be approved by the Board of Regents. The Trumpet and contest committee will select the unofficial name and winner of the contest and present the prize.

Student Directories Go On Sale Monday

Wartburg's version of the Information Please Almanac, Wartburg College directory, will go on sale Monday. Students may order directories by using the envelopes placed in their mailboxes. Directories are being sold for 35 cents. The money and envelopes should be placed in the box at the post office window.

These pocket-sized booklets contain the phone numbers for the new campus telephone system, faculty and administration addresses and telephone numbers, officers of organizations, as well as home and school addresses of students.

HI, MOM!

"Hi, Mom!"

Mrs. Shirley Kronquist, new resident head of Wartburg Hall and assistant dean of women, and Mrs. Lucille Wagner, resident head of Centennial Hall south wing and assistant to Mrs. Rose LaBahn, are answering to this friendly salutation on the Wartburg campus this year.

Counseling and advising, guiding student life in the dorms, supervising social life and providing for cooperative living go along with the friendly greeting every day.

When the new switchboard goes into operation today, Mrs. Wagner will be even busier.

New On Job

Many things are new to Mrs. Wagner at Wartburg because this is not only her first year here but also her first year as a housemother. As she told her freshmen, "I too am a freshman."

College life as a housemother seems to appeal to her because, "I find something new every day that I love."

"I've had lots of experience in business, but none in the field of counseling," Mrs. Wagner stated. "I've always had lots of experience with young people though. I have two daughters of my own and four grandchildren. Besides this I was once a secretary in a school at Thornton, which gave me further contact with young people."

Student Meeting Highlights Campus Government Action

By Nolan Cramer

Highlighting campus government this week was the Student Body meeting held in Knights Gym Thursday. Student senators met Monday evening.

Among the main issues discussed at the Thursday meeting was the question of whether or not Wartburg students should sponsor a Campus Chest this year. No definite vote was taken concerning the matter, as a more detailed report will be presented to the students at a later date before a vote is taken.

Parking Problem

New proposals to alleviate the traffic problem on campus were presented to the students. Among the enforcements which will be in effect shortly was the rule that all students owning cars must have them registered at the dean of students' office.

Hafermann

Adix

Ten-minute parking limits will be enforced behind Centennial and Wartburg Halls. No overnight parking is to be allowed behind the Student Union and on the Luther Hall lot.

A brief report on the dancing program at Wartburg was given by Charles Maahs, Student Body vice president. Maahs stated that three formal dances may be held on campus within the school year. A semi-formal dance will be held at Homecoming, a spring formal will take place, and there will be one other, which has not yet been scheduled.

Dance When?

Maahs reported that the dancing issue on campus is going to be referred to the Board of Regents at its fall meeting. The Board has been asked by the Iowa District to reconsider its vote of last year to permit dancing on the campus of Wartburg College.

The question "What should be done at Student Body meetings?" was referred to the students for discussion with few results obtained. Student Body President John Adix presented the question to the students because of the small attendance and interest shown by students.

"Attendance at meetings is a definite problem, and it should be dealt with," Adix said.

Back To Senate

The matter will be handled by the student senate, which will make an attempt to solve the problem.

On the agenda of the senate meeting was the approval of all remaining appointments to serve on Welfare, Athletic, Movie and Elections Committees.

Activities Committee, headed by Herb Hafermann, met Wednesday night. Jack Otts from Des Moines was selected as the band for the Homecoming dance. Tickets will be $1.50 each.

New Housemothers Like Their Work

By Joan Pape

Mrs. Shirley Kronquist, new resident head of Wartburg Hall and assistant dean of women, and Mrs. Lucille Wagner, resident head of Centennial Hall south wing and assistant to Mrs. Rose LaBahn, are answering to this friendly salutation on the Wartburg campus this year.

Counseling and advising, guiding student life in the dorms, supervising social life and providing for cooperative living go along with the friendly greeting every day.

When the new switchboard goes into operation today, Mrs. Wagner will be even busier.

New On Job

Many things are new to Mrs. Wagner at Wartburg because this is not only her first year here but also her first year as a housemother. As she told her freshmen, "I too am a freshman."

College life as a housemother seems to appeal to her because, "I find something new every day that I love."

"I've had lots of experience in business, but none in the field of counseling," Mrs. Wagner stated. "I've always had lots of experience with young people though. I have two daughters of my own and four grandchildren. Besides this I was once a secretary in a school at Thornton, which gave me further contact with young people."

Friendly Air Noted

The friendliness of the students at Wartburg impressed Mrs. Wagner more than anything else on campus.

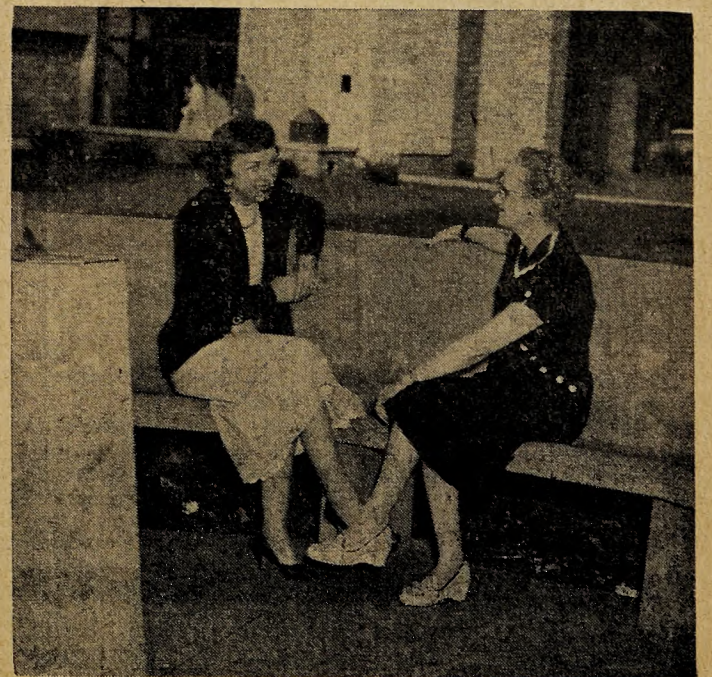

"The byword here seems to be 'Hi,'" she added.

Mrs. Kronquist first became interested in counseling when she was active in orientation at Colorado University, Boulder. She later became the head of her dormitory. This position was so enjoyable and interesting to her that she decided to continue in the same field.

She went on to a student-dean fellowship and was a resident head at Syracuse University, then back to Colorado University as assistant dean of women and finally became an industrial relations counselor for the Dow Chemical Co.

Likes Wartburg

Mrs. Kronquist stated that she had been told that she might not enjoy working at Wartburg because she has previously been associated with larger schools. She has found this certainly not the case, however, for her life here, she says, is both interesting and challenging.

"My work is so fascinating to me because I enjoy working with students," she said. "Contact with them is stimulating and keeps you on your toes. I have also found that students are usually ethically above average. They have a sense of responsibility and are eager to learn."

Don't Throw That Stone!

Unless a person is completely blind to current news, he cannot help being aware of the present crisis in Little Rock, Ark. Although President Eisenhower has finally done what should have been done weeks ago, the situation remains far from being solved.

To the sideline quarterbacks from the North, the solution seems fairly obvious. To the emotion-filled Southerner the answer is equally evident. Unfortunately, there's a chasm of dissimilar opinion between the conflicting views.

It's simple for the spectator to say with smug assurance, "Let's integrate. After all, aren't all men created free and equal?"

But let's consider the facts a little more fully. Although we in the North just love to consider ourselves as completely unbiased, unprejudiced and thoroughly American, we're not.

Who's trying to kid whom? The only difference between the average Northerner and Southerner is that the person from the South has a much more pronounced drawl when he says, "Keep the niggers out."

Despite the fact that the members of the Student Body are probably unanimously behind the efforts of integration, what are they doing to promote the cause of brotherhood? Possibly it would be a better question to ask exactly what can be done.

Well, what can be done? That's the trouble — there really isn't a great deal that can be done. True, we can stand idly by while loudly bewailing the fate of a persecuted minority. Or we could volunteer for Southern service with a paratrooper unit. But, outside of that, there really isn't much that can be done.

However, there is one thing which every person can and should do. And that is to personally and privately examine himself on the subject of race relations. Just start probing a bit and find out exactly what sort of a Christian you are on this matter of race relations.

Go ahead, make a mental check list and give yourself the third degree. Be dishonest, and the results will be quite gratifying and smugly reassuring. Be honest and you'll probably be frightened.

It isn't the questions that count — it's the answers. Before searching for a few choice stones to hurl in a southerly direction, better check and see if you're in a mental position to be the starting pitcher. If you're not, then make certain you're in a position to take a stand as an adult freedom-loving Christian. Unless brotherhood is universally recognized and applied, the creed of Christianity becomes a mockery and a farce.

'Satchmo' Still Tops, Says Moeller — And It's Dixieland, Not Just Jazz

By Phil Moeller

It's too bad we couldn't have had Louis "Satchmo" Armstrong on the campus last year. There's no question about it — he is the man of the house.

His picture in the Register this past week had our Brooklyn Dodger contingent in a nasty cross fire: Is "Satchmo" really lathered up about the segregation issue, or is the Register merely taunting us Dodgers, knowing that we won't see big Roy Campanella wearing the customary lather for Gillette in the World Series this October?

Louis is still the number one man in the public eye, considering his recent Newport series with Eddie Condo. "Struttin' with Some Barbecue" and "Bit Butter and Egg Man" should pull their new long-play record a long way. "Sachmo" looks bappy with his "very own blend" Dixieland outfit and, of course, sounds sweet with any all-star combination.

Last winter I spent a Saturday at the Cincinnati Gardens, taking in a four-band Dixieland marathon. George Lewis, the Gin Bottle Five, Gene Mayl and the Dixieland Rhythm Kings all shared the spotlight.

However, excepting the mass playing of "The Saints" and several other standards, all four bands entertained as separate units, maintaining their individual blends. Such a Dixieland performance will bring together a variety of outstanding bands but won't pull a soloist out of the natural setting of his own band.

To better see the distinct difference between "Dixieland Jazz" and just plain "Jazz," we can contrast this Dixieland marathon with a recent all-star jazz performance which featured Armstrong, Butterfield and Hackett. Interpretation of individual solos was superb, but the combination with the other pieces in the all-star cast just wasn't natural.

There's pressure on a traveling soloist. Some get a good break. Joe (Fingers) Carr sounds nice enough with Pee Wee Hunt on their first LP, but "Fingers" is one of the few to fit well.

I heard the Dukes of Dixieland for the first time last May (of "Oh, for a Closer Walk With Thee" fame). Harry Blons, a relative newcomer, has closed up the ranks on the Mercury label with "That's a Plenty" and "How You Do Me Like You Do, Do, Do" stands as a recommendation for them.

The Blons combo has been brewing in the Twin Cities area for quite some time, but has just picked up Hod Russell on the piano. (Hod had been with Pee Wee Hunt after leaving the U of Iowa.) It's hard to put a New Orleans or Frisco label on the band, but it's got something.

Bob Scobey still holds his claim on Dixieland's top vocalist, Clancy Hayes, even though Lu Watters and his Yerba Buena boys featured him on their latest release. Clancy and Scobey's Frisco Band have put out a winner on the Good Time Jazz label with "Angry," "St. James' Infirmary" and "I Want to Go Back to Michigan." These are about as fine jazz as there is on the market.

New Orleans remains the rhythm headquarters without any doubt, but no one can continue to hide behind a reputation.

It's a cinch that there's gonna be a whole lot of Charleston going on when Turk Murphy starts to "Sbake That Thing" and that mean Lu Watters threatens "I'm Goin' Huntin'." And when Lu Watters goes huntin', it's open season on anything there is, on anything but that Vollmer House pear tree.

Knight Beat has an efficient spy system. One of my greatest joys in writing this column comes when I imagine the look on students' faces when they open their Trumpet and see their names in this column. For instance, did you know that Jan Lamine has a jar of Wisconsin soil in her room?

Vi Luhing's little bit of Italy is back again with us. Did you notice the candles, checkered tablecloths and odor of pizza as you walked by the Den last Wednesday? Vi promises this to be a regular Wednesday night feature.

It's also nice to know that the people who stock the Den juke box didn't intentionally insult us. Seems the college opened a week before they thought it would and they shoved the first juke they could find into the Den before they realized their error. There are a lot of tasty bits on the machine now and more to come.

In keeping with the old journalism stand-by, "Make that deadline," Kathi Frenz is writing her column this week from her sickbed. Every time I turn in my copy, Kurtz accuses me of being sick. Next week, when the World Series starts, his cry will be "Yankees, go home."

In case you're wondering what happens to old Trumpet editors, Cy Waincott is city editor of the Ashland Times-Gazette in Ashland, Ohio. He informs us that he's having a ball.

One student was surprised to hear a bass voice answer the phone when he called Wartburg Hall. Mr. Kronquist — that's Mrs. Kronquist's husband — is probably the only "housefather" of a women's dorm in this country.

Here is a quote from College Chips, Luther's student newspaper: "The Knights, in the throes of a 13-game losing streak, don't have the power to stop Parsons." It may be a bit early to predict, but the dry spell seems to be over. Even Oklahoma gets rain. The state, that is, not the team.

Men, impress your friends back home. Go home with an address book filled with the names and addresses of over three-hundred women. If you suspect a plug, you're right. Alpha Phi Gamma is getting ready to place the '57-'58 student directory on sale.

Knights To Fayette — Looking For Second Win

Jomen Seek Second Win

Fresh from the first victory in 14 tries, the Wartburg football squad will go after its second consecutive win and the Victory Bell tonight at 7:30 when the Knights meet the Upper Iowa Peacocks at Fayette.

The Victory Bell, an old locomotive bell, is the traditional traveling trophy between the two schools. Upper Iowa has held the bell for two years, winning it in 1955 with a one-point triumph and retaining it last year with a 19-19 tie.

UIU Favored

UIU is rated a one touch-down favorite, despite losses in its first two encounters and Wartburg's upset victory last Saturday.

Head Coach Norm Johansen has been hit hard with injuries to key players in practice this past week. Chuck Nichol, starting halfback, has been sidelined with a concussion sustained in practice early this week.

Three Out

Jim Butzlaff and Rog Klingman, both linemen, are ailing, and it is doubtful if Marv Ott, quarterback who tossed Wartburg's first touchdown pass this year, will be able to start.

At Upper Iowa, Doc Dorman, entering his 54th year as head football coach for the Peacocks, has been attempting to install some scoring punch into his ball club. UIU dropped its first two games to LaCrosse State Teachers College, LaCrosse, Wis., 14-0, and to Buena Vista, Storm Lake, 7-0.

Cross-Country Men Open Against Luther

Coach Bob Campbell's harriers begin their second full season next Saturday when they meet the Norsemen of Luther.

For their initial start, the Knight cross-country men are banking heavily on Phil Moeller, last year's leading point-getter. Campbell has not yet disclosed his starting lineup, which will depend upon next week's performances in practice.

Waverly golf course will be the site of the Knights' first clash, with starting time set for 10:30 a.m.

PICKING UP SPLINTERS

By Wilbur Flachman

Saturday's gridiron performance by the Knights makes writing a lot easier for the sports editor. It was getting monotonous inserting that bit about the losing streak every article.

But the Knights kicked up their heels Saturday like a bunch of young colts let out to pasture after a long winter in the barn. All had a hand in breaking the dry spell. Several freshmen showed up well, and returning vets turned in key performances.

If an outstanding performance can be singled out, it will have to be the job done by Leon Knitt, junior center, who has been a reserve the past two seasons until making a bid for a starting role this year.

Also Larry Raper, sophomore fullback, who was the workhorse, grinding out 93 yards on the ground. And Ron Krueger, another soph, was in on nearly half the tackles. Freshman Dave Jensen (who incidentally never played any high school football because he was considered too small) provided a lot of breakaway speed and looks like a fixture in Jo's backfield. Dave gained his only previous grid experience in service tugs.

How many noticed the passing of freshman Marv Ott? Although he favors aials with his right arm, he can flip the pigskin with either hand to confuse the opposition. Marv, who initiated his college career in good fashion Saturday, was a Nile Kinnick scholarship candidate at the U. of Iowa. The coveted Kinnick award qualifies top athletes in the state, who display brains as well as brawn.

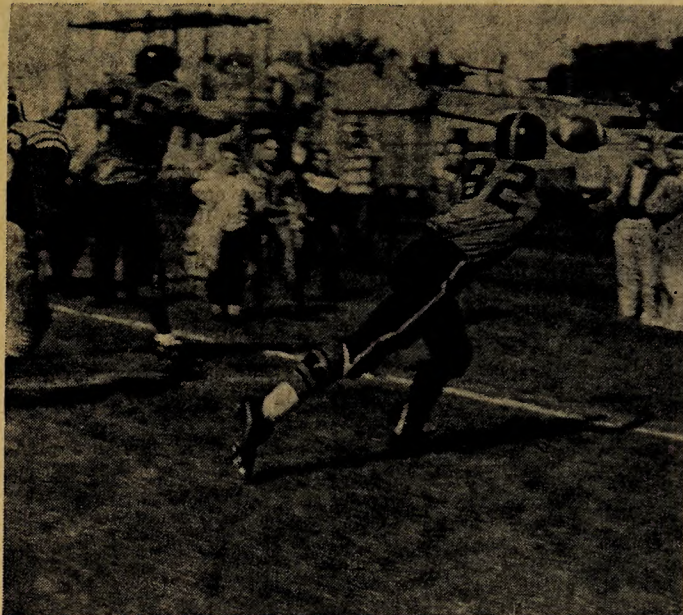

Arnie Brandt, Wartburg's ace on the mat, who has never lost a dual match in his college career of wrestling, gave the Parsons' backs some lessons on that quick takedown Saturday.

Saturday's contest marks the first time in history that the Knights have blanked Parsons. The last shutout recorded by Wartburg was in 1955 when they slammed the door on Central, 12-0.

Football, Bowling Hold IM Spotlight

Intramural activity increased this week with flag football getting into full swing. North Hall defeated Larson's 13-6, Grossmann I and Basement downed Grossmann II 19-14, and Cotta House easily won over Waverly Off-campus 42-0.

In bowling, Leo Wilharm had the high series of 569. Phil Moeller following close behind with a 513. Bob Campbell and Earnest Oppermann tied for high game with a 208.

Tennis pairings for the intramural tournament will be posted Monday with play beginning Wednesday. Denny Wesels, chairman of the intramural program, reports that 96 are participating in the program and so far all have paid their dues.

20-0 Victors First In 14

"We needed it, we wanted it, we got it!"

These were the dressing room words of Coach Norm Johansen last Saturday, after his Knights had humbled favored Parsons 19-0 for Wartburg's first victory in 14 games.

The fired-up Knights, dominating the early play, moved the ball deep into Parsons territory following the opening kickoff, but the threat bogged down short of the goal. Center Leon Knitt intercepted a pass, to give the locals another scoring opportunity midway through the first period, but again a stiff Parsons defense left the Knights knocking at the door.

John Klaudt's diving catch of a pass thrown by Marv Ott broke the scoring ice in the second period to make the record read 6-0 at the half. Parsons registered its only serious bid to score early in the third period, marching to the Wartburg four-yard line before running out of gas.

Dave Jensen stole another Parsons aerial early in the fourth period, from where the Knights tallied once more on a heave from Jack McClelland to Chuck Nichol. The count ran to 13-0 after Denny Krominga converted. Jensen capped the scoring minutes later with a seven-yard dash off-tackle.

Another Book For Dr. G. J. Neumann; Wartburg Press Prints Latest Work

Dr. G. J. Neumann, known to Wartburg students as vice president of Wartburg College and head of the English Department, has recently published a children's book entitled "The Door That Walked Away."

Eighteen stories comprise this prose writing published by the Wartburg Press, Columbus, Ohio. This is Dr. Neumann's second book for children. The first, "The Golden ABC," appeared last spring.

"The Golden Story," the second book in the series which began with "The Golden ABC," will tell the story of the Bible, both Old and New Testament, in chronological order. Third in the series, "The Golden Life," also soon to be published, tells the story of the life of Christ.

Wartburg students previewed the fourth book in the series at a recent chapel service. "The Golden Prayer" deals with The Lord's Prayer. All books in the series are written in verse form and are illustrated.

"The Wonder of Long Ago," the fourth volume of a collection of Christmas lyrics for children's Christmas programs written by Dr. Neumann, has been released. Copies are now available.

Annual Plans More Pics

Seniors and two-year graduates will have an opportunity to "say 'cheese'" when their Fortress pictures are taken Oct. 8 through 10 from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Those wishing to have their pictures taken should sign the chart in Luther Hall.

Group pictures for organizations will be taken Oct. 13 in the Knights Gymnasium, beginning at 12 noon. Schedules will be placed in the mailboxes. Underclassmen who have not had their pictures taken may do so when retakes are made.

English Meeting Planned At UIU

Most of the members of the Wartburg English Department will attend the Iowa Colleges Conference on English at Upper Iowa, Fayette, Oct. 4 and 5, according to Dr. G. J. Neumann, head of the Division of Languages and Literature.

Dr. Neumann will also attend a meeting of the American Lutheran Church Board of Publication in Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 30 and Oct. 1. He will preside over a meeting of the Iowa District Committee on Church Life, to be held at Wartburg on Oct. 4.

Alumni, Students Plan Meeting

The double-header, a unique version of a Wartburg alumni chapter meeting, will be held Oct. 6 in the Twin Cities at Minnesota. Both alumni and prospective students have been invited to the dual-purpose meeting.

The gathering will open with a general meeting, after which the two groups will separate.

Prospective students will meet under the supervision of Admissions Director Fred Thompson while President C. H. Becker will speak to alumni.

Meetings with prospective students are being set up in a number of areas. Announcements of such gatherings in Chicago and Milwaukee will be made soon.

Oops . . .

In last week's story about the enrollment, the number of students from Nebraska was unintentionally omitted. Nebraska has the fifth largest number with a total of 47.

Total Wartburg enrollment now stands at 855, but 21 of these are part-time students. Full-time students number 834.

Hey, Gang, Get This — Kathi Gives The Word

By Kathi

Know the word for the day? That's an easy one. Everyone knows that it is "Lower Upper Iowa." Let's help the boys out by going to the game and cheering them on to victory. The game is at the home of UIU, Fayette, and is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Don't tell me that you don't have a way down — a look at our parking lot denies that.

Those of you who are planning to go to the Luther League-Lutheran Student Association meeting tonight, can still go and go to the game too. The meeting is rescheduled for Sunday evening, same time, same place.

THEY'RE COMING

Gil Wessel, junior and head of Beta Beta Beta, tells me that he has someone to share his work. At the meeting Wednesday, officers for the year were elected. They are vice president, Herman Hein; secretary, Barbara Bradle; and treasurer, Ron Pfohl. All are juniors. Tri-Beta is a science club—honorary, by the way. This club is really looking into the future, too—plans for the spring banquet were also made at the meeting.

you? Want to learn more or just want to voice your opinion on world situations? If so, this is for you. World Affairs Forum is meeting Wednesday night. The program sounds interesting too. President Bob Mayer informed me that Bobby Tao and Charlie Chen, juniors from Hong Kong, will be speaking. "China and Its Problems" will be the subject. They will talk about the Communists there and other points of interest. A group (possibly heated) discussion will follow. Almost forgot — it's in Wartburg Hall Lounge at 7.

THE APG STUDENT DIRECTORIES—WHAT ELSE?

That fellow you see walking about campus with the blue and amber ribbons pinned on his shirt is feeling normal. It's just senior Bill Melvin, the lone Alpha Psi Omega pledge. He'll be wearing that ribbon for some time and getting more nervous as time goes by.

Duane Matz, junior in charge of Bible Discussion Groups, would like to remind students that every Sunday morning these groups meet in St. Paul's Parish Hall at 9 a.m. These meetings are open to all students. Current issues are discussed in the light of Bible truths. Everyone is urged to attend.

That's all for now. Remember that word for the day — "Lower Upper Iowa."

See you at the game!

Bye!

Mr. Funk & Mr. Wagnalls

"In re this matter of Good Taste," said Mr. Funk to his secretary, "take a definition."

"Taste: sensations . . . excited . . . by the . . . action of the gustatory nerves . . ."

"And add this," put in Mr. Wagnalls. "Taste: the faculty of . . . appreciating the beautiful . . ."

"That," said Mr. Funk, "wraps it up. Mr. Wagnalls, will you join me in a Coca-Cola?"

"So good in taste . . ."

"And . . . in such good taste!"
